

Meet James

James aged 4, is a sweet, happy little boy. His dark hair, bright blue eyes and beaming smile add to his adorable persona. He is always on the go – loves the outdoors, especially riding his bike, as well as typical boys toys like Lego and action figures.

James has been in foster care since his birth coming out of an environment dominated by drugs, abuse and neglect.

Background

James is extremely popular at nursery with lots of friends. He thrives on attention and responds well to adults.

Unfortunately he has had numerous placements in foster care as well as a short stay with a birth relative who was unable to continue his care. As a result he does not manage change very well and can become very emotional and his behaviour can be difficult. He will need help to manage this in the future and would benefit from therapeutic parenting.

Whilst he has no significant health issues there is some delay in his speech and he struggles at school with reading and grasping the concept of phonics.

He has a good routine and eats and sleeps well and is a really caring little boy.

Could you be the right family for this bright little man?

With such a chaotic start to his early life James is looking for a two parent family than can provide him with the love, security and stability that he has lacked. You will need to have patience and resilience in understanding where his behavior has come from and be able to develop his understanding of his life as well as nurture and help him realise his potential.
